(Seattle) – Elizabeth Kenny's Sick—originally scheduled to close April 30—will end its sold out run with two additional performances, June 24 and 25, 2011. This will be the fourth and final extension for Kenny's lauded play, which chronicles her harrowing experience with pharmaceutically-induced psychosis.

In addition to playing exclusively to sold-out audiences since it opened in April, the show has drawn the attention of the medical community. Kenny has recently performed for the students and faculty at Seattle University's College of Nursing, at The National Empowerment Center and the National Coalition for Mental Health Recovery's Creating Connections Through Dialogue conference at Endicott College in Beverly, Massachusetts, and for the Seattle Dermatological Group. One audience member at the Beverly performance called the show "dynamic, insightful, funny, and profound."

Tickets are still available for all remaining performances.
